Text 1: Face

Title: Papal bull

Language(s): Latin

Incipit: Reissue in 1551 of a document first issued in 1507 (?), whereby an unknown person was accorded certain powers, including those to grant degrees in law, theology and medicine, to nominate notaries and judges, to legitimize irregularly born children, and nominate three people to high positions.

Notes: Julius de Gentilibus's name also occurs in the Abstracts of Protocols of the Town Clerks of Glasgow, ed. R. Renwick (Glasgow 1897) where at item 1347, Mr. William Salmond in 1559, because of the powers granted to him by Julius de Gentilibus, made someone else a notary. There is a Giulio Gentili buried (second half of the 16th century) in the church of Trinità dei Monti in Rome.
